Make better decisions.

- Dashboards and reports: Provide rich insights to executives, managers, and administrators with dashboards and reports that they need for comprehensive analysis. Managers can use real-time data to seamlessly initiate compensation-related events, such as new hires, transfers, promotions, and terminations. They can identify top performers and ensure they are being recognized for their contributions.
- Surveys and benchmarks: Whether you are bringing in survey data or using Workday's benchmark data, administrators have the tools to navigate market dynamics. Driving innovation in compensation, Workday makes it easier to work with survey data. You can match your organization's job profiles with survey jobs for easier survey submission, load compensation survey results directly into Workday, and easily apply weights and aging factors to create compensation benchmarks for all job profiles.
- Pay equity dashboard: Compare compensation across employee groups and surface any pay gaps so you can address them. The dashboard is configurable so you can compare compensation by gender, ethnicity, or other variables to drive greater pay equity in your organization.

Configure quickly and easily.

- Compensation plan creation: Develop custom plans based on a wide variety of data and enforce consistency with eligibility rules including global, salary, hourly, unit salary, period salary, allowance, unit allowance, merit, bonus, commission, stock, long-term cash, future payment, one-time payment, and multiple one-time payment plans.
- Compensation package development: Combine plans, grades, and grade profiles to provide comprehensive package options. Worker movement in Workday automatically triggers plan adjustments, driven by eligibility rules you configure.
